

Dung Beetle - Common tumblebug

Canthon pilularis

Dung beetles are one of nature's recyclers. They eat the dung left by other animals and some even lay eggs in it! What do you think the prairie would have looked like without this cleanup crew?